| Coney Island, performances at an all-city Suzuki play-in, and at the Cincinnati Art Museum, as well                         |
| as at local retirement communities, all to enthusiastic audiences.  |
| School year offerings: Musik Kids program. Sept - May, our staff offered 1 weekly class at Lads and Lassies preschool,      |
| 4 weekly group piano classes, 4 weekly family music classes (ages babies-3 yrs.), and 2 pre-piano                           |
| classes (ages 4-6). Our pre-piano and keyboard group teachers also continued teaching private piano                         |
| lessons for those children who began piano in the group class program.  |
| Two recitals were held at local retirement communities, Llanfair and Evergreen Village, and 2 recitals were at the          |
| Wyoming Fine Arts Center. These recitals are free, and attracted a large number of independent, assisted-living,            |
| and full-care residents. In January each year, we host a public inter-active family music event, where students             |
| created simple instruments, then made music, danced folk dances, and listened to special sounds.                            |
| Summer months were affected by the pandemic, although we were preparing to teach by Zoom, our classes had no                |
| registration (down from an average of 20-35 students for the 6 week session). We also                                       |
| cancelled 3 mini musicals, which would have involved singing and folk dancing.  |
| Instead of our traditional summer camp programs, we continued the private lesson model due to COVID-19                      |
| and the need to continue with remote learning due to government restrictions. There were 6 art camps available with limited |
| number of students to stay within the pandemic guidelines of small group restrictions.                                      |
| Musical theater students attended weekly coaching and performed a total of 4 shows, including 2 in the summer,              |
| to audiences numbering over 300 people. As an educational program, musical theater class and camps offered instruction      |
| to beginning, intermediate, and advanced students, and to many students these activities served                             |
| as a first introduction to singing, acting, and dancing, laying the foundation for a life-long appreciation                 |
| for the performing arts. The Center also continued its partnership with Springfield Township's ArtsConnect.                 |
| Together with ArtsConnect, we presented three "off the hill" productions of the Cincinnati's tony-award                     |
| winning playhouse in the park's family-friendly theater plays, reaching approximately 600 people                            |
| over the 3 productions. We also presented the "ArtsWave Days", a free community arts engagement                             |
| day which included free demonstrations and performances of our programs (Musik Kids, Suzuki Strings,                        |

| and approximately 350 other guests attended end-of-camp student art exhibits.                          |
| Because of COVID -19, the spring quarter went virtual and several classes: preschool, art and Saturday |
| middle school did not run. Library programming came to a halt and summer art camps were a fraction of  |
